Amazing Audio/Video AI Tools for Creators

I love how AI is helping new creators with low-budget create fantastic content. For example, it would be super cost prohibiting to create a translation of your best YouTube video startup presentation or pitch deck in multiple languages and forget about doing that with video dubbing and all the A/V tricks that are only available for startups and entrepreneurs with financial backing.

Well, no worries. I have been researching A/V tools that work with the latest Artificial Intelligence technologies and make it possible for solopreneurs, small startups, or any new creators to create killer content.

While the results may vary, I'm thrilled to share this research with you. These AI tools can significantly lighten your content creation load, freeing up your time and resources for other crucial tasks.

Visually dub any video to any audio in any language

You can take any video and an audio transcript in any language and create a really good AI-generated dubbing video that would be extremely hard to create without some excellent video editing chops.

Offering your videos in multiple languages is a great way to repurpose your content to a larger audience. So this is a must try tool for creators.

This is a small AI startup that has built this tech. Here is a video showcasing their tech:

Open-source app for lip-syncing any video in any language

Sync Labs created this app to allow anyone to launch their video translation app in under 15 minutes! You can integrate video translation, voice cloning, and lip-syncing into your business/workflows.It depends on third-party services, including Sync Labs API (this is how they make money). Here is the list of third-party APIs / services you will need should you build this on your own as a hosted Software as a Service (SaaS) platform for your customers.

* Sync Labs for perfectly synchronized lip movements
* Gladia for transcribing
* Eleven Labs for voice cloning and speech synthesis
* Next.js for web app
* Vercel for deployment
* Supabase for db, auth, and storage
* Inngest for serverless queues
* Stripe for billing
