My Favorite AI Guys on X

X connects industry leaders and innovators in artificial intelligence and machine learning. Renowned scientists like Dr. Yann LeCun engage alongside a community of knowledgeable practitioners. These experts generously share insights and discoveries, elucidating complex technologies for the public. Their commitment to education creates open access to leading advancements in AI.

The knowledge and compassion freely exchanged within this impactful network inspires hope. Rapid technological shifts demand inclusive spaces where people explore developments together. X spaces foster illuminating dialogue we all benefit from.

Alex Northstar

Alex hosts a Thursday AM (PST) X space, talking about AI news of the week. He is an excellent X-spaces host and a very professional guy. I love listening to him in the background while working on things.

Umesh = EG = Educated Guess – NGI doing AI

I speak extensively to Umesh from the UK (originally from India) on X spaces. He is an awesome guy who started his computing journey with the same tech as I did: BASIC, COBOL (not me), FORTRAN, PASCAL, C/C++, etc. He moved into the Machine Learning (ML) arena early on and has developed a fantastic understanding of the entire Artificial Intelligence (AI) space – truly at the level of a great professor. I am so glad our paths have crossed on X spaces. He is a peaceful soul – a true Indian – and an educator to the masses. I enjoy listening to him talk about just about anything.
