LLM API for Startups

Accessing LLM in your apps is going to be almost a requirements in the near future as users demand natural language interaction with your tools. This is why learning and using LLM API capabilities is a big plus for any startup or solo developer.

Here I will share my research into this topic.

Groq Cloud for Startups

Developer access can be obtained completely self-serve through GroqCloud. There you can obtain your API key and access our documentation as well as our terms and conditions on our developer Console.

You can chat directly with the Groq team about your needs, feature requests, and more by joining our Discord community.

If you are currently using the OpenAI API, you just need three things to convert over to Groq:

1. Groq API key
2. Endpoint
3. Model
